"MOTHER'S FRIEND"

According to amounts sometice, sactimported $5,000 worth of Tailiths, or mantles of prayer, used in Hebrew worship. Not having money enough to pay the duty, he procured the loan from Kilpner in September, promising to pay it back in fourteen days. He did not do so, and as repeated demands failed to hasten the payment, suit was brought. Immediately thereafter, it is alleged. Fast distributed the goods in cases among his friends, stating as his reason that he feared the robes would be selzed by the Customs authorities, as he had arranged to have them passed much lower than the legal rate of duty.

Lawyer Jaworower, however, declares that the purpose was to secrete the goods so that they could not be levied on by creditors.

The goods, or a portion of them, valued at about $1,000, have been attached by Kilpner and are now in the hands of the Sheriff.

A motion to vacate the attachment was made to Justice Newburger, He "My wife used only two bottles of 'Mother's riend.' She was easily and quickly relieved; now doing sulentials. Friend. She was easily and is now doing spiendidly.
